XI. COMMENTS FROM COMMISSIONERS

Commissioner Alston referred to an article in the Rhinoceros Times regarding moving forward with a disparity study and quoted a comment attributed to Chairman Branson. He stated that the content of the article, and its implications regarding questions raised by himself and Coleman regarding recent bidding and MWBE participation on county contracts were unappreciated and in his opinion insulting. He asked the chairman to speak to the article and address his comments. Alston emphasized that he represented a district whose demographic was largely African American and it was his task to provide his constituents agency to address the questions about race that must be continue to be asked. He spoke to the previous Board action to award a contract to a vendor that had zero African American participation. He expressed his displeasure with the Republicans on the Board, who typically vote as a block, and emphasized that they are sending a poor message to the citizens of Guilford County.

Commissioner Coleman echoed Commissioner Alston's statements, and noted further the problems that continued to divide Americans. She shared that she felt that as chairman he needed to represent all people on the Board and the County constituency. She spoke to the number of jobs that were passed over by the Board that possess high numbers of African American participation. She stated the inequity among the County's awarding of contracts, and that contracts have been awarded to white women who have white husbands in an effort to inflate diversity numbers. She emphasized that none of the jobs from the New Atlantic Corporation had African American participation. She hoped that the board would begin working together in these efforts and begin awarding more contracts to African Americans.

Alston also shared that the article was about a request for a disparity study and shared the inflammatory comments of a Guilford County Sheriff's Deputy directed toward Commissioner Alston who voiced his personal opinions on social media.

Chairman Branson shared that he nor any of the other board members were made aware of a disparity study request or interest therein when he was approached by the media, and stated that he would hope in the future that, before approaching and representing such to the media, Commissioner Alston would bring those ideas to the Board first.

Commissioner Alston asked the County Manager bring back a cost analysis for a County disparity study similar to the ones completed by the City of Greensboro and the Guilford County Schools. He noted the study would be to determine the capacity of African-Americans in the community that can do the work the County was soliciting. He asked the County Manager to bring a cost analysis back to the Board in 30 days. He asked the Manager to retrieve the disparity study from the City of Greensboro and Guilford County Schools. He stated that the study was to find the number of African American contractors that can do that work. He noted that there should not ever be a reason for zero African American participation. The disparity study would show definitively what African American contractors are available in the County. He emphasized that he would like to know the cost of a study in the next thirty days.

Commissioner Foster shared her perception of the comments made in the article and noted the disparity throughout the community. She shared the responsibility of the Board to represent all peoples of the County. She thanked Fairview Elementary School. She noted a family that had received services from the Family Justice Center (FJC) and noted the important work, and noted another homicide in High Point in a park. She wanted to make note of these crimes and put an end them. To do so, Foster stated that the Board must work collectively to stop the senseless killing in the community.

Commissioner Conrad shared Reeling for Research and the oyster roast at Libby Hill on April 6, from 4-9 p.m.

Commissioner Cashion shared updates from the FJC and the families that underwent tragedy. She noted that Guilford County has provided the FJC and the County did that right. She shared that the NCACC has convened a state-wide committee which has asked to be moved from one district into another. She asked that representation be considered from all LMEs. She noted her participation as a representative of Guilford County and Sandhills. The purpose, Cashion stated, was to address the districts and how they have been drawn. She discussed the appointments and how they were selected.

Commissioner Alston shared that Sheriff's Deputy called him yesterday to offer his apology.

Chairman Branson offered his apologies to Commissioners Alston, Foster and Coleman and to those he might have been offended by his comments. He noted that as Chairman supported MWBE outreach efforts and evidenced by the approval and hiring for the new MWBE Director position. He stated that he has always been in support of awarding county contracts to all eligible vendors regardless of race and is open to all vendors applying for contracting opportunities.

Branson noted the good work being done in Guilford County and stated that the unemployment rate was at its lowest point in several years. He shared his pleasure to continue working with the school system and the superintendent to continue to produce a high quality workforce. He reiterated his apologies if his comments were offensive, he shared it is his opinion that the County staff have continued to go above and beyond to ensure inclusiveness in bidding and contracting. He shared that while we do, as a county, have room to improve in our outreach and African American participation.
